Hon. Alyonso Tapp, ex-Minister to Rus country, says: "They protect all their manufactures by heavy duties. The manufacturing industry of the country is growing up under the policy and becoming very large. There is very little American capital in Russia now. The policy of Russia is discouraging also to the English, who formerly had a large colony of wealthy traders at St. Petersburgh."

This from a "nation of barbarians" In our own country there is a disposition to tear down what has been built up by a tariff high enough to protect. Why need any American gag on a policy which protects Americans and leaves the people of other countries to scramble for them-

We fear that the Register misappre the postoffice matter. The INTELLIGENCER has not said or intimated that the Register ought not to get the postoffice. The news aspect of the case has been printed, fairly as we think and hope, accompanied by kindly comment on the Register's candidacy.

The reference to effice-holding by newspapers was not designed to prejudice our neighbor's case. It was made as a pre-caution, lest the public might conclude that the INTELLIGENCES had changed its oft-leclared opinion on this subject. The opinion applies to the INTELLIGENCER rather than to any other newspaper. Twenty years ago the postoffice might have been very acceptable to the INTELLI-OENCER. Now it would not be acceptable, because from any point of view it would not pay. So with any other office that might be suggested. But this does not shut out of office-taking any newspaper which has other inclinations. We hope not to be misunderstood in were heard in the District Court, yesterday, on the application of defendants for the removal to the Federal Court of the petition for the temporary injunctions against the saloonkeepers. Captain Adams, attorney for the Prohibitionists, opposed the application for removal on the ground that it set out merely conclusions of law, not facts which would oust the courf from its injunction.

Colonel Lyon, one of the attorneys for the defendants, followed with an argument in which he held that the petition did set out sufficient grounds for removal. d d set out sufficient grounds for removal. Perhaps the counsel ought to have taken more kindly to the cracking of the court's little joke, and perhaps he would have done so if the joke had been on the other side.

It would, perhaps, be advisable for those who contemplate the preparation of replies to the Treasury's request, to keep in mind the fart that their statements may be obtained from the department when he objected to that kind of by-play from the bench. CHINESE CHASED

It needed but little to excite this feeling into an active crusade against the Chinese, and precipitate the battle at No. 6 mine, about one mile north of town. Through some misunderstanding two Chinamen took a room in the nine belonging to two white men. When the white men came they ordered then out. They would not go, and a light ensued, which was participated in by nearly all the whites and Chinamen in the mines. The Chinamen were worsted in the fight, and four of them were badly wounded, one of whom has since died. IRISH AGRARIANISM.

New Form of Crime Which Is Perplexing

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The Government is nuch perplexed over a new form of agra rian crime which is becoming alarmingly prevalent in Ireland. At the last assize in County Kerry, Judge Falles decided that persons whose cattle had been stolen were not entitled to compensation under the Malicious Injuries act, although these whose cattle had been houghed or hamstrung were entitled to such compensation. Under this decision the mutilation of cattle has become unpopular among the moonlighters since, by these acts, they in-flict no injury upon the owners of the cat-tle and only cause injury and death to the unoffending animals.

Instead of mutilating the cattle of ob-noxious landbords, balliffs, etc., the moon-lighters now steal the cattle outright and

It was impossible to discover any expression of regret, however, from any quarter so far as the workmen were concerned. The following manifesto was adopted, addressed to the immense bodies of Tyneside workmen in all industries who fought for the nine-frour movement, and have again entered the field: The struggle between slavery and deapotism is eternal, and ever and anon it emerges into the light of day to do battle; in it is once more our high and honorable privilege, while in it let us acquit ourselves like true English hearts.
